Residents fight plans to bulldoze estate garages

DEBRA FOX

AFFORDABLE homes could be built on one of Haverhill's estates – but only after garages are demolished to make room.

Planning applications for properties on Norton Road, Orford Road, Nayland Road and Ladygate, on the Clements Estate, were last week entered by Havebury Housing Partnership.

But residents are outraged that they could lose their garages – and they say parking, which is already “atrocious” on the estate, will get worse.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and ward councillor for Haverhill South, said: “The parking is atrocious as it is. One resident said if she could not park near to her house, she would not feel safe – particularly with no streetlights if she was coming back late.”

There are also fears about the proximity of the proposed buildings to existing homes and the “intrusive” effect it could have on home life.

Andy Batchelor lives on Parkside, and has a double extension built on top of his house. The development for Orford Road means his bedroom window would face the kitchen windows in the new flats, he said.

When given permission for his extension, he was told he would not have been allowed if there were

PROPOSALS: Havebury have submitted plans to demolish garages and build flats in their place. Right: Mark and Nicola Turley and Tina Henderson other homes for him to look onto.

“I would not have spent £40,000 on my extension if they told me a few years later I was going to face flats,” Andy said.

“It is a real intrusion of privacy.”

Lynn Jones, who lives next door to Andy, says her garden would be boxed in by the walls of the development.

There are six flats and two houses proposed for Norton Road – and 14 parking spaces will be lost.

Plans for seven flats and 15 garages have been entered for Orford Road, and two flats and two houses are proposed for Nayland Road – with the loss of one parking space.

None of the 12 spaces currently available at Ladygate will be retained if permission is granted for two houses to be built there.

All of the remaining spaces will be used by residents moving into the new homes – not those who currently rent garage space, or park in the surrounding area.

Mark Turley, also of Parkside, and his wife, Nicola, organised a resident's meeting which was attended by nearly 100 people. They have been collecting objection letters to send to the borough council.

The couple rent two garages from Havebury, and have parking spaces in front.

Nicola said: “We would have to lose our cars, our motorbike, the kids' push bikes and everything that's in storage – or move away.”

Mark, who has lived on the estate for 18 years, is on-call 24 hours a day, and has to have fast access to his vehicle at all times.

Tina Henderson, who also lives on Parkside, said that the character of the estate will be affected if planning permission is granted because everyone will be fighting over the few available places left to park.

Cllr Tony Brown, who represents Haverhill East, said: “Havebury have said they would come and consult before they do anything contentious,” he said.

“It's appalling, and their plans are causing a lot of distress.”

Karen Mayhew, chief executive of Havebury, said some of the garage sites are “underused”, and so they have been explored for housing.

She said: “While as yet we have to carry out a full public consultation, I would like to reassure residents that we will talk them through the plans in detail, and work with them to find alternative garage accommodation in the local area.”

She said the plans were entered before a consultation was carried out, so that Havebury would not miss the opportunity to apply for a grant for the proposals.

Havebury has also entered an application to build four houses and two flats on Cambridge Way.

There are currently 17 parking spaces on the site. This will be reduced to 10, all allocated for those moving into the new homes.

A consultation is taking place on May 7 at Haverhill Arts Centre from 3pm until 7.30pm.

This event will give residents the chance to view the plans in full, and share their views on the proposed development with Havebury.

Is Mediation right for you?

As the song says, 'breakin' up is hard to do'. Figuring out the best way to organise and cope with a separation is also difficult. We offer a 15 minute free diagnostic interview to explain and discuss ways in which you can resolve issues surrounding separation and help you figure out which is the best method for you.

We offer mediation and collaboration as well as more traditional ways of resolving disputes. Attending an initial mediation session (except in some exceptional circumstances) is now mandatory before making any court application involving children or money. Using mediation along with obtaining separate legal advice may be the right approach for you.

Mediation allows you to be in the driving seat when discussing how to arrange child-care, property and finances when you have separated or are thinking of separating. You and your partner set the agenda and the time frame for resolving all issues. Mediation can be quicker and cheaper than court proceedings and keeps you in control of the process. If you have children, resolving differences through mediation can help maintain a more positive parenting relationship for the future even after separation.

Make an appointment at any one of our three offices to find out more about mediation or how we can assist when you separate.

Scooter riders hit the road for St George's Day

CONVOY: Members of the Haverhill Circles Scooter Club before the ride out.

MORE than 100 vintage Vespa and Lambretta scooters hit the road at the weekend in honour of St George's Day. Those taking part in the Haverhill Circles Scooter Club annual ride out met at The Rose and Crown, Haverhill, on Sunday to start their journey through to Cambridge.

Participants took part in a moment of remembrance en route to pay their respects to Dean Cork, who rode a Piaggio T5 scooter, and died in a collision last year. In Cambridge, the number of scooters rose to more than 400 as they rode through the city, before returning to The Rose and Crown for a small celebration. Stewart Westley, club general, said: "This was our best turn out to date." Search for Haverhill Circles Scooter Club on Facebook for more information about future ride outs and events.

When will someone mend our road?

DEBRA FOX

POTHoles have become so severe on a Haverhill road that local people are calling for the council to adopt it.

Quakers Lane, which is home to the town's ex-servicemen's club, leads right onto the High Street – but despite the central location, no repairs have been carried out for years.

Steve Russell, club secretary, told the Weekly News that it would cost thousands for owners and users to repair.

He wants Suffolk County Council to repair the road – but a spokesman for the county said the part of the road leading to Recreation Road and Mill Road is privately owned, and therefore not their responsibility.

The council is now trying to establish who owns that section of the road.

Mr Russell, who has been club secretary for four years, said: "The potholes are so deep, it's wrecking cars and putting people in danger."

Last year, a 75 ton delivery truck carrying 100 beer barrels was forced to reverse onto the High Street in the ice and snow, instead of driving along the length of the road, Mr Russell said.

"It was so dangerous," he said. "Someone could have been seriously hurt."

The club, which has more than 1,100 members aged between 18 and 96, hosts a range of activities including bingo and race nights, and also has a room available for functions.

The condition of the road makes it difficult for members to get to and from the club and Mr Russell said members had been injured in the past as they tripped over potholes – including one who fell and broke a wrist.

A spokesman for the county council said: "There is a process by which councils can adopt a section of private road but there are certain conditions that need to be met."

"For example, the road needs to be brought up to an adoptable standard and it needs to serve the wider public – rather than just one private property. "The application also needs to be submitted by the registered landowner."

Appeal after three burglaries

BURGLARS targeted three houses on one estate.

The incidents took place over a three-day period on The Birds Estate, Haverhill.

The first took place in Tern Close on April 20, between 10.15pm and 11.50pm. The residents returned home to find someone had got in through the back door and a handbag, cash and cards stolen.

Two men were spotted on April 21 smashing the window of a property in Jay Close at around 11pm. The noise disturbed the owner, who scared the intruders away.

The third incident took place between April 20 and 21 in Redshank Close where the French doors to the rear of the premises were smashed and the house searched. Jewellery and cash were stolen.

Inspector Ferrie said extra patrols have been taking place. He urged any members of the public who see people acting suspiciously to dial 999.

Say it with flowers

BOUQUETS will be handed out across Haverhill tomorrow for National Flower Arranging Day.

An estimated 60,000 bouquets will be distributed across the UK – with some being left on park benches, doorsteps and town landmarks.

Haverhill residents should look out for posies in the Market Square, and St Mary's churchyard.

The National Association of Flower Arrangement Societies hands out 'lonely bouquets' – flowers for strangers – every year.

Anne Bridge, East of England Area Chairman, said: "We are asking all our members to make a bouquet, attach a tag asking, 'Take me home and adopt me'."

Trekking the distance of almost TWO marathons

Denise Russell is preparing for the challenge of a lifetime. She talks to DEBRA FOX

TAKING on a marathon in the name of charity is a big enough challenge for a lot of people.

But how would you feel about walking 50 miles – almost twice the distance of a 26-mile marathon?

Denise Russell, of Haverhill, has signed herself up for a charity trek, all in the name of the Alzheimer's Society.

In June, she will spend four days walking across Cornwall's coast from Lizard Point to Land's End.

On one of the days, she will have to walk 20 miles in one sitting. She will also have to camp out every night, alongside around 100 other participants.

Denise, 45, said: "It hit home a bit because my partner's mother has got Alzheimer's. I thought 'right, I can do this now' and signed up."

"My friend's husband also suffers from Parkinson's, and as a result he has early onset dementia."

"I've done lots and lots of training – but it's going to be a big challenge."

Mother-in-law Jean, 84, went to live in a home shortly after Christmas last year.

Denise decided to take part in the trek in August last 2013 – after she had lost a stone with Slimming World.

Since joining the weight loss programme in June last year, she has lost 3st 5lbs.

The 45-year-old has three children, and two grandchildren.

"I think my family were a bit surprised when I signed up because I was so early into my weight loss," Denise said.

"But now, they are really proud of me and have been sponsoring me."

Denise has to raise a minimum of £600 for the challenge, and is currently at £270.

Simmo's Playzone is sponsoring Denise by running a raffle up until her trek in June.

Tickets are now on sale, and winners will be drawn by Denise on June 15.

For more information about prices and prizes, contact Simmo's on 01440 710071.

To sponsor Denise visit justgiving.com/Denise-Russell

She is also taking part in next week's Haver10 and the Girls Night Out in September.

Voice your concerns at town meeting

AN ANNUAL meeting inviting residents to voice their concerns will be held later this month.

Residents will attend the annual town meeting on May 27 – but a variety of special guests will also be in attendance to commemorate a special milestone.

Haverhill Town Council is celebrating its 25th birthday this year, and its achievements will be honoured in speeches made by previous town clerks and other local figures.

Gordon Mussett and Will Austin are just some of those invited to be in attendance.

A logo has been designed in honour of the occasion, and is expected to be displayed on town council stationery in the coming year.

It will also be put on mugs, for town councillors to keep.

At Tuesday's town council meeting, Bob Whitmore, locum clerk, said that the costs stand at around £1,000.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, said: "I think we should spend it. We fought for years to have a town council, through lots of opposition from lots of people."

"People have worked hard for many years and I think spending £1,000 is reasonable. It's an opportunity to thank those who have got us here today too."

The event will follow a meeting of full council, starting at 7pm, where the mayor making will take place.

Hotel guests will benefit from faster broadband

A HOTEL has invested in superfast broadband to improve its services.

Days Inn Haverhill will have the broadband available for guests staying at the hotel, corporate clients using the facilities for conferences, local businesses and residents visiting the coffee bar.

Nic Rumsey, owner, said: "The decision to install superfast broadband in the hotel is part of an ongoing strategy and commitment to developing our corporate business."

"By offering free access to the service we are adding value to both our business and leisure guests and providing yet another compelling reason to use our award winning hotel."

"I hope that local residents will pop in and enjoy a cup of coffee or a drink from the bar whilst they are accessing what will be one of the fastest broadband connections in the town."

The hotel's fibre optic leased line will provide 20mbps for sending a receiving data.

A Better Broadband programme for Suffolk is currently being rolled out across the county – but some parts of Haverhill are thought not to be included in the overall strategy for the town.

Tackling your new priorities: drugs

WARRANTS have been executed and extra patrols have taken place in a bid to clamp down on drugs crime in Haverhill.

At the last meeting of the town's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) residents voted for drug-taking and dealing openly in public, and clamping down on drug-fuelled assaults to be dealt with over the next quarter.

Twenty patrols have taken place on the Recreation Ground and Castle Walk, two arrests have been made, six stop searches have been carried out and there have been three stop encounters.

In relation to drug-related assaults on the Clements and Chalkstone Estates, four search warrants have been executed following 18 uniformed and four plain clothed patrols.

There have also been 12 offences of possession of cannabis, three offences of possession with intent to supply drugs and two offences of possession of Class A drugs.

Dealing with parking issues outside Haverhill's schools was also voted in as a priority.

Both uniformed and plain clothed patrols have taken

'Town's other estates should get help too'

DEBRA FOX

A COUNCILLOR is calling for £200,000 to be spent on EACH of Haverhill's estates, after it was announced that the Clements is to benefit from the princely sum.

As previously reported, residents living on the Clements Estate are being asked for suggestions to be made to Community Action Suffolk on how they would like to see £200,000 spent in their community.

A presentation will then be made to the People's Health Trust in August, who will make a decision on spending the money.

Cllr Tony Brown, who represents Haverhill East on both St Edmundsbury Borough and Suffolk County councils said the news is "positive" for the Clements – but other estates need help too.

"I am really glad for the residents of the Clements for getting that money, and good luck to them," he said.

"But it would be good if the other estates had a similar amount of funding allocated to them."

The Chalkstone Estate falls into Cllr Brown's patch – and he says there has not been money spent there for many years.

The Parkway Estate, which is in the north of the town, would also benefit from an investment, he said.

Cllr Brown added: "It would be good to make play areas for the children, upgrade the existing facilities and consult with residents about what they want."

"I would like to see money spent on something that's going to inspire the residents in the future, in some way."

Speaking at Tuesday's town council meeting, Jon Eaton, of Community Action Suffolk, confirmed that only three areas in the whole county had been chosen for the project.

The other two are Gainsborough in Ipswich, and Kirkley in Lowestoft.

Mr Eaton added: "The money has been chosen to go towards places who have health inequalities and high deprivation levels."

Mr Eaton also said that Community Action Suffolk is looking to create a panel of residents to lead the ideas.

Submit your ideas for how the investment could be spent on the Clements Estate by texting 07990576893 or emailing Elaine Hewes, volunteer field officers, via elaine.hewes@communityactionsuffolk.org.uk.

Postcards will also be delivered to homes across the area in the coming weeks.

New skills for young primary pupils

SESSIONS to help children develop their language skills have been held at a primary school.

More than 25 little ones at Place Farm Primary Academy have taken part in a 10 week Talk Boost training course, run by 1 CAN, the children's communication charity.

The sessions, for children aged between 4 and 7 with language delay, help with self confidence and attention, as well as language development.

Sue Beal, assistant head of school at Place Farm, said: "For most of the children who have undergone Talk Boost, their attention and concentration skills have improved and they are more willing to contribute in group and whole school situations."

"Good communication principles have been embedded in practice across the whole class, ensuring that all children are supported."

The aim of the course is to improve communication skills through individual work and discussion in class.

The course can help a child catch up by as much as 18 months, and is supported by Openreach, which provided a bursary for Talk Boost training to take place in schools.

E-fit released after robbery

ROBBERY: The e-fit picture released by police

A MAN in his twenties was threatened with a knife and had his prescription medication stolen in a robbery.

Police have released an e-fit after the incident in Haverhill Road, Little Wrattling.

The victim had gone out to his car, between 9.25pm and 10pm on Saturday, to fetch his prescription when he was confronted by a man, who threatened him with a knife.

The man ordered the victim to open the boot and doors of his car so he could search. The offender then took the prescription medication, and some cash.

The suspect is a white man, aged late 30s to early 40s. He is described as around 5ft 10in tall, of skinny build with blond hair.

He was wearing a black mask, a dark hooded top with the hood up, dark jeans and gloves, and 'Caterpillar' style boots. He spoke with an Irish accent.

Contact the Bury St Edmunds Priority Crime Team on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 with any information.

Play revamp: 'We'll make the money go as far as possible'

EXISTING facilities will be incorporated in plans to transform Haverhill's Recreation Ground to ensure the funding goes as far as possible.

Damien Parker, parks manager for West Suffolk, told Tuesday's council meeting that £70,000 "does not go very far for play equipment", but best use will be made of infrastructure already standing.

As previously reported, St Edmundsbury Borough Council is paying for the revamp through funds allocated in the 2012 Leisure Asset Review.

The money is so far going to be spent on a relocated and redesigned park area, new equipment and better access.

Mr Parker said: "The solution we have set out in the plans really gives us the opportunity to get the infrastructure right first time.

"We want to make the best use of existing infrastructure on site, such as the kiosk, the band stand, the play area and the toilets."

Concerns were raised on Tuesday's meeting about the lack of seating, the lack of lighting and the noise that could be generated by a zip wire proposed for the play area.

Mr Parker explained that certain areas of the Recreation Ground need to be kept free for a range of events – such as the Summer Bash and fireworks night – and that the budget was not enough to pay for lighting.

He also confirmed that Suffolk County Council will be widening the path through the green space to make room for cycling, so there may be opportunity there for more lights.

Some of the kit proposed for the play area, he said, is suitable for disabled children to use.

Mr Parker added that the council hopes to get the work finished in time for the start of the summer holidays – but if there are several concerns raised by the public, the work will take place after the summer.

A period of consultation is now due to start with neighbouring schools, a borough council spokeswoman confirmed.

Monthly craft fairs begin

LOCAL crafters can now take part in a new monthly event.

Haverhill Crafters Co-operative are holding a craft fair on the last Saturday of every month at the Arts Centre.

The first, held on April 26, had a range of handmade items on offer, and encouraged others to book stalls for next time.

The Co-operative was set up by Rose Felloni, who is working to raise awareness for the Prader-Willi Syndrome Association through crafting, and Lyn Bacchus, who owns a handmade stationary business, Loves Cards.

If you want more information about the fairs, or to book a stall visit facebook.com/haverhillcrafterscooperative. You can also call Lyn on 07546552148 or Rose on 07931510353. The next market takes place on May 31, between 11am and 3pm.

Warming up for fight night

FOUR fighters are entering their final weeks of training for Haverhill's upcoming fight night.

Carl Ledger, Luke Monks, Mehmet Kucukarslan and Jake Bachelor will compete in 12 fights, featuring boxing and thai boxing, at the event on May 10.

The fight night, taking place at Haverhill Leisure Centre, was organised by Matt Fitch, former ISKA British Champion thai boxer and Neil Spokes. It is in aid of the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Mehment, of the Chalkstone Estate, said: "I'm training hard. I'm really excited to be fighting on home turf."

Doors open at 6pm, and the first fight is at 6.30pm. A bar will be available.

The event is for over 18s only. Tickets are available from the leisure centre reception, or by calling Neil on 07931 041204.

We can make this town a better place

I FIND it quite amusing as stated in April 24th issue of this fine paper, that £100,000 was needed to find out whether a railway can be constructed – what a waste of money.

If the powers that be were serious about the return of the railway it would be built, whatever the cost and whoever it upset.

Since the closure of the Haverhill line in 1967, all the town has done in reality is build more houses, lots of them. Don't get me wrong, Haverhill is a place to live, but it could be so much better.

As with anything to do with infrastructure, it's a lot of talking and not a lot of doing. All we ever hear about is the A1307 and how bad it is, but it is the only road at present capable of dealing with 21st century traffic.

The roads to Bury St Edmunds, Sudbury and Colchester belong in the 1960s.

Bringing back the railway, larger stores would come, more industry, more competition, better paid jobs. . . it can't get any worse can it?

The 1968 Man Alive programme pictured a bleak outlook for Haverhill... 46 years later is it that far from the truth? You will have to judge for yourself.

Would we as a town be better off in another county? Is Haverhill fast becoming a boil on the backside of Suffolk and to lance it is the only way of putting it out of its misery? Or is it time to start the healing process, get Haverhill back on the map and make it the town that it should have always been?

I prefer the latter, how about you?
Steve Carter

Sudbury can do it – why can't we?

WE recently went to Sudbury for a ride out as it was a nice day. Despite it not being market day there were lots of shoppers and traffic about, the cars through the High Street adding to the atmosphere.

None of the town centre pubs seemed to be closed with most having boards outside with meal deals and live music.

Strangely all the shops which have closed in Haverhill are thriving there, including New Look, Superdrug, Thomas Cook and even the Co-op. In fact since we were there last there is a sports outlet (JD Sports) a music shop and amongst others are Fat Face, C&C, EWM, Roys, a family butchers and the jewel in the crown, Winch & Black which is a department store. You can understand why people shop there.

Your Pictures

Kathy Cohen sent us this photo of bluebells. She wrote: "After seeing the blossom in this week's paper I thought you might like this one taken at Weston Lower Wood, Weston Colville on a glorious Easter Bank Holiday Monday. I visit the wood a few times each year, but always try to get there for the bluebells, they are so beautiful."

To add insult to injury we passed a newsagents' office displaying a poster proclaiming that because of the success of the Apex in Bury they have been chosen to host a conference on town centre regeneration.

Ah well, back to Haverhill. Closed pubs, every other shop closed or there's a charity shop and sightings of Lord Lucan more common than casual shoppers in the High Street.

Perhaps before Bury sorts out the country's town centre problems, what about ours?

Long term, what about an "Apex" for us? In the meantime, with rents in the High Street, in some cases I am told, 20% higher than in Cambridge, instead of wasting money on pedestrianisation and one way systems which no-one wants, why not restore the High Street back to how it was, the council buy up shops and let them out at rents people can afford. Some hope!

A restored railway would be good too, something else Sudbury has.

Good decision on head

THREE cheers for the health and safety people who have kept the Haverhill Head out of the High Street.

What a triumph for the silent majority who cannot understand why money is available for art but not to mend potholes near the High Street.

I hope no students were damaged during the construction of this artwork, and that no birds will be trapped in this elaborate cage. Above all, I hope that it will never be allowed to frighten the toddlers in Haverhill Town Centre.

I will also change bank

WITH regards to the letter in last week's paper from Mr Brinkley, I am in total agreement. I also went to Barclays Bank and was asked why I didn't use the machines and was treated like a child because I wanted to speak to a cashier.

I will therefore be changing banks.

HAPPY EASTER: Cllr Tim Marks, deputy mayor of St Edmundsbury, and Cllr Roger André, mayor of Haverhill joining in with Easter activities at Stepping Stones.

> > Email your Community News to editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

■ PRE-school pupils have been celebrating Easter with a range of fun activities.

Under 5s at Stepping Stones had a cake competition to raise funds for a class trip to the cinema, and lunch at Frankie and Benny's.

The entries were baked by parents and staff, judged by Cllr Roger André, mayor of Haverhill, before being sold in the playground.

They raised over £100.

Anne Jessop, pre-school deputy, said: "We would like to thank all the parents and staff for taking part and the children loved their outing.

"Thank you to the mayor for judging this, who said it was very hard to pick who the winner was."

Children also took part in an Easter Egg Hunt, and a creative hat parade.

Recycling point for coffee lovers

A NEW collection point for recycling has opened in Haverhill.

The bin, to collect Tassimo coffee machine discs and foil packaging, was created by Tassimo and Terreacycle.

Suffolk resident Alan Clark signed up all 11 of Suffolk County Council's household waste recycling centres for the project.

This makes the region one of the first in the UK to have collection points for the Tassimo Brigade.

Mr Clark, from Leiston, said: "I am delighted FCC Environment will house collection bins at 11 sites across Suffolk to enable the people of Suffolk to recycle their Tassimo packaging waste."

Funds raised from all of the waste collected will go the East Anglian Air Ambulance.

Previously, the packaging waste would end up in landfill due to the mix of plastics.

Visit the Haverhill collection point at the recycling centre on Chalkstone Way.

HARD WORK: Paul Gunton and Alan Clark with the Tassimo Brigade collection bin at the Leiston site.

Extension planned at pub

A POPULAR town centre pub has applied for an extension.

The Woolpack, on Queen Street, Haverhill, could get an extended kitchen area and extra women's toilets built onto the back of the building – if planning permission is granted.

The new additions would be built in two single-storey extensions, attached to the existing facilities.

A spokesperson for Greene King, which runs the pub, said: "A planning application has been submitted to let the tenant at The Woolpack continue to offer excellent service and comfort to their customers.

DEBRA FOX

"The plan is to extend the ladies' facilities and also the pub's kitchen. The extension to the kitchen will allow food to be served for longer hours, throughout the day."

The Woolpack is a Grade II-listed building, and a second application for listing building consent has also been sent to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

It is not expected that any of the proposed alterations will affect the "historical interest" of the building, which is from the mid 19th century.

Extensions and alterations have taken place at the premises previously.

How does your garden grow?

OPEN GARDEN: Jordan Hughes, with Cllr Tim Marks and wife Margaret.

GARDENERS across Haverhill are being encouraged to open their gardens and raise as much money as they can for charity.

Haverhill Open Gardens will take place on July 6 – but there are currently not enough people signed up to take part.

Jordan Hughes, hospice community fundraiser, is calling for people to help.

Cllr Tim Marks, who is also member of Haverhill In Bloom, is opening his garden to the public. There will also be refreshments available on the day – which is taking place from 10am until 3pm.

Mr Hughes said: "We want to make this event as successful as possible, so if you have a garden you would like to show off please get in touch – we need you."

If you're interested or for more information, call Mr Hughes on 01284 715597 or email jordan.hughes@stnh.org.uk

Screwfix will open next week

TEN new jobs are being created as Screwfix prepares to open a branch in Haverhill.

The company has confirmed that the new store, on Hollands Road, will open on May 8.

Gary Leatherdale, new store manager, said part of the vision has been to employ people from the surrounding area.

"We've created 10 brand new vacancies and have consciously chosen to employ local people," he said.

"Our new team includes people of all ages and levels of experience, but the most important requirement is that they have the right attitude and can offer superb customer service."

"Everyone here is really looking forward to the store opening."

The store will be Screwfix's 340th in the UK, and until May 11, all product ranges will be 10 per cent off.

There will also be store specific special offers taking place during this time. A competition is scheduled for the opening, and all tradesmen are being invited to try their hand at a screw drilling competition.

The current record, for 30 screws screwed into a block of wood in one minute, was set at the Heathrow branch in 2012.

Mr Leatherdale said: "I'm confident that we've got a great location here at The Hollands Centre."

"My team and I have already been out and about getting to know local businesses and tradesmen and we've all been struck by how friendly everyone is, yet it is also a busy centre of commerce."

For more information, visit screwfix.com or call 0500 414141.

Opening hours will be 7am until 8pm from Monday to Friday, 8am until 6pm on Saturday and 10am until 4pm on Sunday.

Non-runner Debra Fox gets off the sofa & in training for Haverhill's inaugural 10K

IT'S ALMOST the end of the line.

Next week (gulp) I'll be joining more than 100 other 10K participants at the start line – and I can't say excited is the right word.

Don't get me wrong, I'm looking forward to completing the race and getting out there with my fellow runners, but I know I'm going to struggle (at some point) with the distance.

Try as I might, time just hasn't been on my side with one thing and another during my training.

I completed a 10k jog/walk (or thereabouts) for the first time this week, but tired isn't a strong enough word to describe how I was afterwards.

It was a good feeling, though, knowing I had finally managed to run (see: amble) that far – and it did give me more hope for my survival chances on the day.

Here's what I'm hoping for:

Reasonable weather: not too cold, but not too warm and sunny.

A great atmosphere: if you're free, please come and watch us. We will all need your support.

A giant meal afterwards and a comfortable chair: any takers?

I'm already thinking about next week's penultimate column – if you have words of wisdom, don't forget to share them before then.

Email debra.fox@cambridge-news.co.uk with your tips.

New hospice centre gets ready for action

DEBRA FOX

A NEW hospice centre will open in Haverhill at the end of the month, the Weekly News can reveal.

Patients and their families using St Nicholas Hospice Care services will no longer have to travel to Bury St Edmunds when the outreach centre, which is running from the Burton Centre in Camps Road, opens its doors on May 31.

Mandy Wilson, outreach centre manager, said the new facilities will benefit the whole community.

"It's going to make a big difference," she said.

"I grew up in Haverhill, so it's great to be able to do something for the community where I grew up."

The outreach centre will not offer any inpatient services, but a range of therapies, activities and other sessions will be on offer for those with life-shortening illnesses, and their families.

There will be counselling, bereavement support, faith networks and group supports for patients, as well as carers. Meeting rooms, activities spaces and offices are also available.

Twenty five per cent of all people using any St Nicholas Hospice Care services come from Haverhill, Mandy confirmed.

"We know for a fact a lot of people don't travel from Haverhill to Bury St Edmunds," she said.

"The road is not very good, especially if you're not feeling your best. But now we're in the town centre, and couldn't ask for a better location."

"We are very lucky with that."

As well as being a base for hospice services, the centre will also have a community room available for use.

Some of the town's Rainbows, Brownies and Guides already meet there, and other groups can get in touch.

Mandy also confirmed the hospice is open to suggestions on what services it offers.

She said: "We not just parachuting in from Bury St Edmunds saying 'this is what we do'.

"We want to try and work with the people of Haverhill to see what they, and the town, needs."

The hospice team are also still searching for volunteers – and anyone is welcome if they can provide a useful skill to the centre.

If you're interested, call St Nicholas Hospice Care Volunteer Centre on 01284 766418.

An evening of cabaret . . . for a good cause

DEBRA FOX

A DRAG artist is coming to town to raise money for a brave mum.

A cabaret night is taking place later this month in honour of Toni Easson, who became paralysed from the neck down in a car accident three years ago.

The event, organised by friends Emma Morris and Gemma Simmons, will feature performances from drag artist Shona Shuffles.

Last year, the women organised a ladies' night, also with Shona and male stripper Lee Sapphire, which raised more than £900.

Proceeds are going towards stem cell treatment for Toni, who is in her twenties, in the future.

Emma said: "We are trying to raise funds for Toni to have stem cell treatment so that she one day may be able to hold her daughter again."

"We would like to say a massive thank you to Shona and Lee for their help last year and welcome back Shona this year for another fantastic, jaw-dropping, side-splitting night of laughter."

"We would also like to thank Place Farm

BRAVE MUM: Toni Easson and her daughter

Primary Academy for lending us their production stage, Andy Palazon for donating his time and equipment to do the lights and sound, and to Haver Hampers for donating to the raffle."

If you want to buy a ticket, which cost £10, call Emma on 07772533393 or Gemma on 07527145900.

The event is taking place at The New Croft on May 9 from 7pm until 12pm. A raffle will also take place on the night.

Slimmers raise hundreds for hospice

LOSING weight and getting fit has helped raise money for a hospice charity.

Fifty members of Haverhill's Slimming World groups have signed up to take part in the town's first half marathon or 10k on May 11.

Both events are in aid of St Nicholas Hospice Care – which the group has already raised more than £200 for following their Slim for Good campaign.

Tania Watson, consultant, said: "They have been feeling a bit more confident in themselves, and we will carry on fundraising for the hospice."

A number of the members are also taking part in the hospice's Girls Night Out, taking place in September in Bury St Edmunds.

Vanessa Heales has organised walking groups for members on a Monday and Thursday so members can train together.

She has lost 5 st 7 lbs over two years with Slimming World.

Power to oppose wind farms welcomed by MP

WEST Suffolk's MP has praised plans to end public subsidies for onshore wind projects.

The announcement that the next Conservative Government would give local councils a decisive say on wind projects has been welcomed by Matthew Hancock.

He said: "This is excellent news for people in West Suffolk who have been worried that wind farms could be approved locally without their views being heard."

The next Conservative government also aims to change planning rules to protect valued countryside and heritage areas.

This means that plans which are not already in progress for wind projects would need to be able to pay for themselves and generate enough local support.

Enough projects have already been planned to meet the Government's renewables target for 2020.

Mr Hancock added: "This is excellent news for people in West Suffolk who have been worried that wind farms could be approved locally without

Our two little miracles

Heartbreak turned to joy for Jessica and Jose Liht when, after seven years of trying, they finally became the proud parents to adorable twins. They tell how IVF has given them the family they always dreamed of.
Feature by LYDIA FALLON

IAN and Danielle Liht are quite the little charmers.

Happily toddling around their Cambridge home – all bright eyes and cheeky smiles – the 17-month-old twins are impossibly cute.

Currently going through an “adventurous” stage according to their mum Jessica, their new favourite game is climbing; their little faces lighting up in pure joy as they clamber up on to the table, one after the other. “They always have to copy what the other one is doing,” Jessica laughs, scooping them up on to her knee for cuddles. “If one of them is doing something, the other one wants to do it too!”

“They are both completely different though,” she adds. “Dani is very feisty and clear, she knows what she wants, and Ian is more cuddly and chilled out.”

Gazing at them adoringly, Jessica,

36, is the epitome of a besotted mummy, but after waiting nearly seven years for these kinds of moments, that’s really no surprise. “When I got to bring them home for the first time it was an amazing feeling, an indescribable feeling – of completeness and pure joy,” Jessica smiles, wiping away tears as she remembers. “I felt like life had really begun.”

Ian and Danielle were born on November 14, 2012 at the Rosie Hospital. It was an overwhelming moment for Jessica and her husband Jose, who, after five years of failed IVF treatment, had almost given up on their baby dream.

They decided to give IVF one last go, and after years of heartbreak, they were finally granted their ultimate wish – to have a beautiful, healthy family. “When the nurse told me I had two strong heartbeats I couldn’t believe it, I just kept saying: ‘No, it’s not true,’” Jessica laughs. “She showed me the scan and I was just crying in disbelief. They were actually real – it was absolutely amazing.”

It’s been quite a journey for the couple, who met in Mexico City before moving to Cambridge nearly a decade ago. “We met at university around 14 years ago and have been married for 12 years,” Jessica smiles. “Jose was doing his PhD and teaching in the university and I was studying psychology.”

Naturally maternal, Jessica always knew she wanted children, and the couple started trying for a baby once they’d moved to Cambridge. They assumed it would be the perfect start to their new life here. “Although we weren't desperate to have children straight away, we started trying," explains Jessica.

"It had been about a year and we hadn't been able to conceive, so we went back to Mexico to visit family and I saw my gynaecologist just to check everything was OK."

Tests revealed that Jessica and Jose wouldn't be able to conceive naturally. They were both heartbroken. "It was a big shock," Jessica concedes. "You have your fantasy about what you want from life and you think having children is something so natural and straightforward, something which everyone does. You just presume it's going to happen and is part of the plan."

Jessica and Jose returned to England, and, desperate to start a family, they began to discuss other options. They started looking into IVF and eventually made the decision to have treatment at Bourn Hall in Cambridge, the world's first IVF centre.

It was a gruelling and emotional process, full of ups and downs. "It was very intense. The combination of hormones and emotional implications means you can't forget you're going through it. There are lots of injections, lots of blood drawn, checks and scans all the time. You just think about it constantly," Jessica explains.

"In my naivety I thought it would definitely work. I believed there was nothing to worry about – they'll get his sperms and my egg and it will all be fine."

But it wasn't to be. "When that first cycle failed I felt like my world was falling apart," Jessica says. "I think that was the moment in my life when I felt the saddest."

Normally a positive and upbeat person, Jessica was inconsolable. "Jose was really worried about me because I would just stay at home all day, every day. It was 2008 when the Olympics were on and that's all I would watch all day. He would tell me to go out and I would refuse, I wouldn't do anything. It was completely out of character."

Seven more cycles of IVF followed, but to no avail. Jessica tried to pick herself up after each disappointment, but the pain of seeing close friends and family bringing home their new-born babies was becoming too much to bear. "I'd been so friendly, so open and so forgiving, but suddenly I would feel jealous about things and couldn't bear to see little babies or pregnant women," says Jessica.

"I got to a point where I started feeling terribly guilty. It was like: 'I know I should feel happy for her, but I can't, I just feel angry.' I couldn't help but think: 'Why can everyone have children and I can't?'"

"I'll never forget this one day; it was May 10, Mother's Day in Mexico. I was at work and one of my students asked if she could leave early. I asked her why and she said she was pregnant and was booked in to a clinic to have the pregnancy terminated. It was the day I found out my cycle had failed."

"I was professional and said the right things but then the moment she left – just thinking about it makes me sad – I started crying, it was awful. All I could think was: 'Why do some silly 15-year-olds get pregnant so easily, because they have unprotected sex and are acting on impulse, but we can't?'"

"Jose was so supportive," Jessica smiles. "He knew exactly how to support me and cared for me amazingly. It brought us closer together."

She adds: "I'm quite a pragmatic person, so if you tell me I can't have children, then that's fine, I'll deal with it. I'll be sad but I'll be OK. But it was the not knowing which was just awful."

Jessica likens the emotions she felt with each failed cycle to grief. "My counsellor Linda – an amazing woman, who I have huge respect for – used to tell me, if you have a miscarriage, you lose a child and people say how horrible that is, but here it wasn't quite a miscarriage, it wasn't quite losing a child, but you're losing potential babies. You feel like you have lost something which is so dear to you, even though you don't know it," says Jessica.

The couple eventually got to a point where they thought enough is enough, and decided to take a break from the treatment. They travelled, started training for a triathlon and just did their best to keep their minds off IVF.

"I couldn't take it anymore; I felt exhausted. I think I needed that year, to give up and just relax. I focused on other things and even considered a life without children – I had a life plan."

A year later, Jessica and Jose returned to Bourn Hall reinvested to give IVF one last go. The fresh cycle of IVF produced two good embryos which were both transferred to the womb ("I went in with really low expectations, I was much more relaxed," Jessica says). They took a pregnancy test two weeks later, and it delivered the news they had been waiting so long to hear – Jessica was pregnant.

"I did another pregnancy test a week later and it was positive again, I just couldn't believe it was happening," she laughs. "After so many years you lose hope and expectation. Of course I wanted it to be true but I convinced myself that it wasn't to avoid further disappointment."

How did they feel when they found out they were having not one, but two babies?

"Disbelief was the first emotion. We couldn't believe there was one, let alone two. I felt immensely lucky," Jessica says.

The pregnancy was not without its scares. Jessica had two major bleeds, and was terrified she had miscarried. "There was always something in the back of my mind saying: 'If something goes wrong here, then I will never have children.' It was impossible to fully relax after going through everything we'd gone through."

There were further complications during the birth. Danielle and Ian were born two minutes apart and both were tiny: Ian weighing 2.4 kilograms and Danielle just 1.4. Ian was able to come home but Danielle had to stay in hospital for two-and-a-half weeks, which, Jessica says, felt like an eternity.

"I was like: 'For God's sake, can't anything be straightforward?'" she says. "But I think I knew she would always be OK and when she did finally come home, I felt complete."

Today, the twins are thriving; happy, healthy and quite a handful.

Is parenthood everything Jessica had hoped for? Definitely," she smiles. "My favourite thing has been seeing them develop and create their personalities."

"It's really amazing how you can love two human beings so much. When people said in the past: 'You'll only understand when you're a mum' and now I know what they meant by that – the feeling of completion and pure love."

"You know you would do anything for these two little creatures. It's so intense and amazing."

Councils' six-point plan to help local businesses grow

COUNCILS in the region have made it a priority to help local businesses.

This was the message delivered to guests at thebestof Haverhill networking event last month.

Guest speaker Andrea Mayley, head of economic development and growth for Forest Heath District and St Edmundsbury Borough councils, told the event meeting and understanding the needs of Suffolk businesses was a key part of a "six-point plan" for jobs and growth.

The team is there to discover the needs of local businesses – and promoting West Suffolk to potential investors would help in creating more jobs.

The importance of market

DEBRA FOX

towns on the economy has also been recognised by West Suffolk councils, Andrea said, and a market development officer for the region, Sharon Fairweather, was appointed to highlight this.

Other plans to support businesses include ensuring the conditions are right for growth.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestof Haverhill, said: "It was encouraging to hear that there is a plan in place to support businesses in the region. "There is no doubt that West Suffolk councils realise the growth potential in Haverhill and they are committed to helping businesses in the town with a range of activities from helping to find land and premises to highlighting funding opportunities.

"Local businesses should not hesitate to access the resources available to them."

Paul Donno, from 1 Accounts Online, was presented with a Highly Recommended certificate at the event. The business is recommended because the team are approachable, friendly, helpful and honest.

ANY play that caused riots is definitely one to see in our book.
Spring Awakening, written by Frank Wedekind, did just that when it first struck the stage in 1906. We expect this new version, overhauled by director Ben Kidd and Anya Reiss (who's won the Evening Standard and the Critics' Circle Awards for Most Promising Playwright), isn't going to have people burning down the velvet curtains or screaming abuse at the box office staff. Then again, that's probably a good thing. You don't really want to get distracted from the unnervingly dark and twistedly funny plot which sets out to discover what hope teenagers and youngsters have in a world run by a generation that doesn't understand them, and perhaps doesn't even care. It's nothing if not utterly relevant – quarter-life crisis agogo.

Top of their Kraft...

IF you enjoy your music slightly off the beaten track, you should definitely be keeping an eye on the latest cornex: discover concerts; a new strand of quirky, non-mainstream programming, writes Andrew Burton.

Next up in the series (we've already had The Tyburn Tree from John Harle and Marc Almond) is an obscure multimedia concert by music ensemble Icebreaker.

They're bringing Kraftwerk Uncovered: A Future Past to the Cambridge Corn Exchange on the final date of their hugely successful spring tour.

Last year, the box office at London's Tate Modern went into meltdown, such was the demand for tickets when German techno pioneers Kraftwerk announced a string of dates; their first in almost a decade. They were to perform eight live shows, one album per night, beginning with 1974's Autobahn – the recording that put them on the map, influencing scores of bands and musicians. The chaos paid testament to the enduring legacy of a band whose radical experimentation with synthesisers created a soundtrack for the digital age.

The shows were perhaps the most talked about of the year, with critics unanimously agreeing that – more than four decades since forming – Kraftwerk remain as captivating as ever.

It makes sense then that Icebreaker, one of the UK's most dynamic contemporary music groups, should choose to reimagine the work of this iconic band.

For this UK tour, they turn their attention to Kraftwerk's early recordings, retracing the steps to the band's origins

Kraftwerk Uncovered: A Future Past, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Friday, May 2 at 7.30pm. Tickets £20 from (01223) 357851 / cornex.co.uk in free jazz and a more acoustic sound that preceded the techno-futurist albums that followed.

By reflecting on the transition from their earlier work to the legacy of their later albums, Icebreaker updates the Kraftwerk story, presenting a full history of this seminal band.

For Kraftwerk Uncovered: A Future Past, Icebreaker collaborates with German composer, producer and soundscapist J Peter Schwalm, and London-based visual artist Sophie Clements, together with Berlin-based visual artist Toby Cornish.

"Our focus is on Kraftwerk's early, semi-improvised music that combined acoustic and electronic instruments," explains Schwalm. "And its relationship to their career-defining albums from Trans Europe Express to Computer World. Where Kraftwerk's aesthetic moved ever closer to the 'man machine' we aim to adopt a more 'retro-futurist' approach to find the 'human' inside the machine, beginning with Ralf Hütter and Florian Schneider's own early albums." BLUE RUIN (15, 90 mins)

SPUR-of-the-moment actions speak louder than carefully chosen words in Jeremy Saulnier's impeccably crafted second feature.

Indeed, when the bedraggled hero of Blue Ruin is finally put on the spot and forced to justify his actions, he apologises for his poor articulation and squirms, marinating in the sweat of his mounting discomfort.

From its striking opening shot of a man languishing in a bath, Saulnier's revenge thriller establishes a deceptively slow and steady pace that belies the nerve-shredding tension beneath the surface.

Once the first drop of blood is spilt – and it's a stomach-churning spray of glossy claret – we're completely in the writer-director's vice-like grip, unable to take our eyes from the screen as his tense game of cat and mouse reaches its shocking yet emotionally satisfying denouement.

The lean 90-minute running time is perfectly judged – any longer and our nails would be gnawed down to the cuticle.

Macon Blair delivers a riveting central performance as homeless drifter Dwight, who lives in a rusted blue Pontiac parked down by the beach. He scrounges for scraps of discarded food in dumpsters and occasionally breaks into vacant homes to savour a splash of hot running water.

One unremarkable morning, Dwight is shepherd into the local police station where Officer Eddy (Sidne Anderson) delivers some dire news.

"He's going to be released," she says solemnly.

It transpires that Will Cleland (David W Thompson), the man who is serving time for murdering Dwight's parents, is poised to re-emerge into the outside world. Eddy's revelation shakes Dwight out of his self-pitying fug.

He tidies his appearance and drives back to West Virginia to wait nervously outside the prison and watch as Will emerges from incarceration into the care of his mother Kris (Eve Plumb).

Dwight's quest to dole out what he perceives as justice to Will and his hillbilly brethren imperils Dwight's estranged sister Sam (Amy Hargreaves) and her two children. Thankfully, old school pal Ben (Devin Ratray) has a stash of firearms and some pithy words of wisdom about killing in cold blood.

"No big speeches," he advises. "You point the gun, you shoot the gun."

Anchored by a tour-de-force central performance by Blair, whose mournful stare instantly carries our sympathy, Blue Ruin breathes new life into a well-worn genre.

Flashes of macabre humour, reminiscent of the early Coen brothers, allow us to pause for sharp intakes of breath between meticulously staged set pieces including an altercation in a diner toilet and a night-time stand-off with two merciless members of the Cleland clan.

Saulnier makes every cent of his $1 million budget count including some horribly convincing make-up effects as Dwight incurs life-threatening wounds that could derail his twisted crusade.

Our wincing is nothing compared to his screams of on-screen anguish.

Fending off badgers

WALKING up my garden a few weeks ago, I discovered great clumps missing from my lawn, and that the resulting holes had been used as some sort of animal toilet.

I live in a fairly rural area, and was soon told the likely culprits were badgers, territorial creatures which have no problem digging under fences to forage for food in my – and many other people's – prized grass.

"They are the JCBs of the animal world, built for digging," says Jack Reevey, media adviser of the charity Badger Trust (www.badger.org.uk). "It's very difficult to deter them. If you try to fence them out, it would have to be a very strong chain link fence rather than chicken wire and you would have to dig it 2ft down because they can burrow under fences. The fence also needs to be higher than 3ft or they'll climb over it."

Pungent scents such as Olbas oil or citronella can deter them, he notes, but such scents will have to be re-applied regularly because they evaporate or rain simply removes them. If you are fertilising flower borders, avoid adding fish, blood and bone to them as its scent attracts them, along with the rich, loamy soil which is a haven for worms. "Although badgers are timid creatures, light doesn't particularly worry them and they get used to other distractions such as scarecrows or sonic devices," he notes. "Noise doesn't worry them either. I've heard of setts being made under train tracks and of one instance where a sett was found under the runway of an RAF airbase."

If you have a particular patch of lawn where the badgers are feeding, you can place a piece of chicken wire on the offending area, pegging it down strongly, and let the grass grow through it. It should deter the badgers, who don't like getting their claws caught in the wire mesh.

Lawns in good condition, particularly if they are well drained and free of moss, are also less likely to suffer, the Trust says.

The RHS advises replacing damaged turf by re-sowing with grass seed or laying turf in April. They add that improved aeration and drainage of a lawn will reduce the insect larvae burden too. Also the removal of moss and overhanging

by Hannah Stephenson

vegetation which both contribute to damp areas. Generally well drained and well aerated lawns are less attractive to insects as an egg laying site so less larvae result.

A badger's diet consists of around 50% worms and the rest is made up of leatherjackets, which are larvae of the cranefly, chafer grubs and other insect larvae, the majority of which can be found in lawns and short grass.

In the vegetable patch, they love carrots but I've heard they don't like parsnips or beetroot which you can plant to keep them away, and some gardeners put out peanuts (which they are fond of) in the hope it will distract them from more precious garden crops.

They will also eat flower bulbs, fruits and vegetables, and seasonal availability of these foods will often mean badger activity fluctuates with the time of year – my own badger problem tends to happen in winter and spring, with Reevey says is common.

With all this advice in mind, always seek advice before taking any action. Many badger conservation groups have a lot of experience in dealing with problems caused by badgers and your local group may be able to provide advice.

THE MINI COOPER D:
Top of the class

Top residuals for Mini

MINI has the strongest UK residual values of 34 car manufacturers, an independent study by Glass's has found.

With an annual average depreciation of just 16.4 per cent, Mini customers benefit from the strongest residual values in the industry. Glass's study, which was revealed by Auto Express, scrutinised cars at one, three, five and seven years old to obtain fair depreciation figures.

Mini's industry leading depreciation figures means UK customers can experience depreciation up to 10% less on their vehicle per year compared with the worst performing manufacturers. This can amount to saving of thousands of pounds when selling the vehicle.

Andrew Jackson, head of Analytics at Glass's, comments: "Even for vehicles aged seven years, the percentage of cost new that can be expected from a Mini was appreciably more than any other brand."

Ford's new Fiesta ST is a thriller

FORD has launched a new flagship version of its multi-award-winning Ford Fiesta ST.

The new Fiesta ST3 builds on the specification of the ST-2 by adding desirable features including:

- Keyless entry
- Sony DAB radio/CD with navigation system
- Cruise control
- Automatic headlights
- Rain-sensing wipers
- Auto-dimming rear view mirror
- Power-fold door mirrors with puddle lamps
- Electronic automatic temperature control

The Ford Fiesta ST-3 goes on sale just one year after the current Fiesta ST's debut. Since then over 6,250 have been sold – 20 per cent more than forecast.

Priced at £19,250, the Ford Fiesta ST3 responds to demand for a higher series model in addition to the previous two specification line-up, with the ST-2 accounting for over 90 per cent of sales.

Powered by the same highly efficient petrol engine that has proved so popular with Ford customers – the 1.6-litre EcoBoost 182PS unit with six-speed manual transmission – the Ford Fiesta ST-3 will maintain the car's 'hot hatch' performance, reaching 62mph time in 6.9 seconds and a top speed of 139mph. Official fuel economy on the combined cycle is 47.9mpg, with CO2 emissions of only 138g/km.

FLAGSHIP: The new Ford Fiesta ST

Five vibrant exterior colours are available – Frozen White, Race Red, Panther Black, Spirit Blue and Molten Orange. They are matched to one of two striking interior colour themes, Molten Orange or Smoke Storm, depending on the paint finish chosen.

Rear parking sensors are introduced as an optional extra on the ST-3 (and ST-2), costing £250.

The Ford Fiesta ST was launched to critical acclaim and has gone on to win almost 25 award honours including:

- Car of the Year – Top Gear Magazine Awards
- Best Hot Hatch – Auto Express Awards
- Best Hot Hatch – Scottish Car of the Year Awards
- Car of the Year – The Scotsman Motoring Awards
- Best Performance Car – UK Car of the Year Awards

UK drivers 'happier than ever'

BRITISH drivers are happier with their cars than ever before, especially if they own a Skoda.

According to new figures collected by Auto Express magazine's annual Driver Power survey, the average satisfaction rating for a car in the top 100 was a huge 88.36 per cent, which equates to a 7 per cent rise since the survey's launch in 2002.

Steve Fowler, editor-in-chief of Auto Express, said: "The UK car market is booming at the moment with over two years of consecutive growth and new car registrations up 3 per cent, and it is no surprise given the Driver Power results. Britons are happier than ever with their cars, scoring their vehicles much more highly than in previous years."

SKODA: Driver Power survey showed how much respect the marque has

Skoda has done an incredible job this year, having taken the top three places with the Yeti, the Citigo and the Superb. The Yeti, which with a satisfaction rating of 92.7 per cent just edged out the Citigo's 92.6 per cent, was voted easiest to drive, while the Citigo was declared the cheapest car to run.

The best-performing British car was the MG6, assembled in Longbridge, West Midlands, which received an overall satisfaction rating of 90.9 per cent despite having sold only a few hundred units.

The Driver Power survey asks owners to rate their vehicles on build quality, reliability, performance and more. This year, the survey received more than 50,000 responses.

TEENIES READY TO PLAY PC
CD—Ages 3—6, immerse your youngster in the colourful and familiar Teenies world, brilliantly represented in sound and graphics on your PC. Everyone will love
"Messy Time", with the three different print and play games, as well as instructions on how to make finger puppets, masks, badges and spinners. Then there's "Doodles Mail"—write to the Teenies via Doodles, receive a reply, and see little faces light up.
Watch favourite characters during "Telly Time", and join in the action songs in "Song Time". "News Time" will test pre-school general knowledge and Teenies trivia, while "Playtime" encourages early gaming skills with "Catch", "Flying Rockers" (an arcade-style game) and "Snap". Then, if you're sitting comfortably, there's the old faithful, "Story Time". Clear, colourful and easy to use, the Teenies software will appeal greatly to children from the age of three, but there's plenty to keep the five- and six-year-olds happy as well. Language development, numeracy, creativity, elementary computer skills and good old-fashioned fun are all encouraged, and the whole package is designed to support Key

Haverhill Borough claim fourth spot

HAVERHILL Borough dug out a 1-0 win at home to Dereham Town Reserves to finish fourth in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division, just one point off promotion.

Boss Ben Cowling admitted it had been a scrappy game but was pleased to see his team come away with maximum points.

"The game probably should have been a 0-0 draw," he said.

"Earlier in the season we were losing those kind of games so the pleasing thing was that we won this one."

Borough started the game well but they took the lead in slightly fortuitous circumstances as Aaron Forshaw's cross got caught in the wind and drifted in at the far post.

In the second half the game petered out as both sides adopted the long ball approach, and it turned into a typical end-of-season affair.

Martyn Farrant was called upon to clear the ball off the line on the hour as Dereham threatened to score, but Borough held on to complete an impressive season on a high note.

"We picked up a few niggles in the game and only had about eight fully-fit players so we were hanging on a bit," added Cowling.

"But we won, whereas the last time we played badly we didn't."

"Overall it's been a fantastic season. The players have done tremendously well."

In the Premier Division, Haverhill Rovers won 1-0 at Thetford Town.

Murphy double seals triumph

A BRACE from Ethan Murphy helped West Wrattling defeat Milton 3-2 in Cambridge & District Colts League 14A.

Ronnie Ledwith got the other for Wrattling.

Jack Lisher and Josh Lee hit braces in West Wrattling's 7-1 win over Panthers in BM Kempton 9v9 Youth League 12A.

Nathan Johnson, Edward Brophy and Finley Plant got one apiece.

Oliver Santry earned Aztecs White a 1-1 draw with Swavesey Spartans in Cambridgeshire Mini Soccer League 10C.

Dellar knock is not enough

HAVERHILL went down to a five-wicket defeat at Sudbury in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Adam Dellar struck 48 at the top of the order, before Luke Youngs (38) and Dan Poole (33) helped them recover from 80 for 4 to 177 all out.

But Amit Gupta's 2 for 24 could not prevent Sudbury reaching 180 for 5 with four overs to spare.
